Aim

The aim of this policy is to provide a framework for the identification and ongoing support of exceptionally able/gifted students to ensure that they have the opportunity to achieve their full potential. This aim is shared by the whole school community in a collaborative approach.

Objectives

Definitions

Definition of Gifted, Talented and Exceptionally Able:

- The identification of exceptionally able students is linked to context, and in every school there will be a group of students who require extended educational opportunities, regardless of how they compare to exceptionally able students in other schools. With that in mind approximately 5-10% of the school population may be exceptionally able and will demonstrate very high levels of attainment in one or more of the following areas: general intellectual ability or talent, specific academic aptitude or talent, visual and performing arts and sports, leadership ability, creative and productive thinking, mechanical ingenuity and special abilities in empathy, understanding and negotiation.
- ‘Gifted’ refers to students who achieve or have the ability to achieve at a level significantly in advance of their year group nationally, in one or more subjects in the state curriculum.
- ‘Talented’ refers to students who show exceptional ability in any extra-curricular field.
- ‘Exceptionally able’ refers to the most able of the gifted and talented students.

Identification

We aim to identify gifted, talented and exceptionally able students using a variety of methods.

- We identify gifted students by analysis of performance data from entrance assessment tests and other assessments during their school life.
- We identify talented students by teachers' analysis of students in music, art, PE etc.
- We identify our exceptionally able students by:
Prior attainment (1st Year assessments), as well as via teacher recommendation.
Internal assessment and examination results are also used.
- We promote the early identification of gifted, talented, and exceptionally able students, using information passed on by primary schools and the exchange of information within the school.
- Teachers as part of the whole school approach will be encouraged to use their professional judgment and experience through observation of student's rates of progress in acquiring relevant knowledge, skills and understanding.
- Parents/guardians are likely to have a detailed knowledge of their children's abilities, and can be a very useful source of information in identifying a student with exceptional ability.

Record-Keeping
